

'Come to Cambridge' Study Days 2011 – CPD for Sonographers

Friday 1st July and Saturday 2nd July 2011

The Clinical School, Cambridge University Hospitals, Cambridge

The Rosie Ultrasound Department is pleased to announce the third in its series of CPD study days for sonographers and other health care professionals involved in the delivery of routine obstetric / gynaecology ultrasound services. The aim of these study days is to promote gold standard ultrasound practice by extending clinical knowledge, further developing scanning skills and sharing best practice in a relaxed, friendly and informative environment.

This year's topics will include:

- Multiple pregnancy - biochemical screening and management of MCDA twins
- Moving on with FASP Standards - cardiac conditions, spina bifida, talipes, 2-vessel cords & CPCs
- Impact of maternal infection, drug abuse and alcohol on pregnancy
- Placental development and histology
- The cervix - surgical procedures and cervical length interactive debate
- Different perspectives of gynaecology imaging – ultrasound, elastography and MRI
- Recurrent miscarriage, causes and investigations
- Short term outcome of empty gestation sacs

The cost is £75 per day which includes refreshments, a light lunch and access to on-line lecture notes.

For further information please contact:

Trish Chudleigh

The Rosie Ultrasound Department, Box 228

Cambridge University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust

Cambridge CB2 0QQ

Tel: 01223 217759

Email: trish.chudleigh@addenbrookes.nhs.uk

Website: www.cuh.org.uk/come-to-cambridge-ultrasound-study-day

